Driver Fined After Crash

A NEW JERSEY man was charged with reckless driving Sunday after his car went through a Marshalls Creek intersection and climbed a rock in a front yard.

The driver was identified as William A. McGovern, 28, of Jersey City, N. J., by Stroudsburg State police. McGovern entered a plea of guilty Sunday before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser, East Stroudsburg, police said.

Bonsor ordered the man to pay a $25 fine and $3.50 costs. The charge against McGovern was brought by Pfc. Ed Beneski, Stroudsburg sub-station, who investigated the accident.

Police said McGovern drove down Route 402, through the stop sign at Marshalls Creek where that route intersects with Route 209. His car went onto the front lawn of the Ralph Miller home there, climbed a rock and came to rest on top of the rock.

Damage to the front end, frame and undercarriage of the car was estimated at $520. There was also about $20 damage to the Miller lawn, police said.

Weeks Sees Production, Sales Peaks

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks announced today that a midyear survey of the nation's major industries indicated they will break through previous records and set new production and sales peaks this year.

The survey was conducted by the 25 industry divisions of the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration. It covered over 400 manufacturing industries.

A similar survey at the outset of the year indicated "a general high level of production" in 1955, weeks said, adding that midyear reassessment showed that "steel, automobile, construction, aluminum, chemicals, rubber and others have far exceeded" the earlier estimates.

Weeks made public an industry-by-industry summary of prospects for the last half of this year. This indicated some slackening in the last half of 1955 in iron and steel production, but said that the automobile industry would probably shoot through its 1950 production record.

The aircraft, construction, consumer durable goods, chemicals, rubber, paper and newspaper businesses were pictured in the report as being at record, or near record levels.

The report predicted "sweeping price reductions" in color TV sets over the next six months.

Barr Pleased With GOP View

HARRISBURG, July 4 (AP)—Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, is pleased at Republican views on bipartisan cooperation to solve the state's tax troubles.

He called Sen. Rowland B. Mahan's recent statement on such conferences "an encouraging sign that Republicans are coming round to the idea that something has to be done to extricate the commonwealth from its financial predicament."

Burch Dies; Bangor Man, 30, Drowns

TWO TRAFFIC accidents and one drowning in the region surrounding Monroe County claimed the lives of three men over the Fourth of July weekend.

The first death occurred late Friday night, when Gene F. Bartholomew, 24, of Weissport, was killed in an automobile collision near Leighton. He was a native of Kresgeville. (Details of the accident appear on Page 3).

Bangor Man Drowns
Elmer DeHaven, 35, of Bangor, drowned yesterday in the Delaware River at Sandis Eddy, several miles north of Easton.

The father of four children was an excellent swimmer but apparently became ill while in the water, police said.

Burch Dies of Injuries
Watson B. Burch, 80, who was struck a week ago by an automobile near his home at Columbia RD 1, N.J., died in General Hospital here at 8:25 p.m. yesterday.

The accident happened June 27 on Route 611 in Knowlton Township, N.J., three miles south of the Delaware Water Gap toll bridge.

Burch suffered multiple injuries, including elbow, wrist and pelvic fractures, when he was struck by a car police said was driven by Frederick J. Fleming, 59, of Pelham, N.Y.

Sgt. George Okeson reported Burch, who was nearly blind, walked into the southbound lane of the dual highway. One car swerved to avoid hitting him, the patrolman added, but the Fleming car hit him a glancing blow after veering over to the center island.

Autopsy Scheduled
An autopsy will be performed today to determine exact cause of death. Authorities are continuing their investigation of the accident.

Mr. Burch was a son of the late Harvey and Harriet Stephens Burch of Pahayquay Township. He had lived at Columbia the last 35 years, and was a member of the Sons of Veterans, Stroudsburg.

Surviving are his wife, the former Jennie Hower; six sons, Richard of Bethlehem, Nelson of Binghamton, N.Y., Harvey of Stroudsburg, Willard and Earl of East Stroudsburg, Charles of the U. S. Air Force in Florida; three daughters, Mrs. Maude Counterman of Syracuse, N.Y., Mrs. Mamie Bert-holf and Mrs. Harriet Mosier of Minsk Hills; 30 grandchildren and 31 great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg.

Russia Pays On Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—The State Department said today that Soviet Russia paid the United States shortly before July 1 a total of $7,692,766 in interest and principal due on its wartime "pipeline" lend-lease account.

A department official said the payment involves lend-lease goods that were in the "pipeline" to Russia when World War II ended. He said the total amount due by the Soviets has been in dispute and never has been ironed out.

American officials were said to consider the payment insufficient.

Fireworks Show Goes Up In One Gigantic Whoosh

PALOS VERDES, Calif., July 4 (AP)—The William T. Ayres family put on its own fireworks show today—in the master bedroom.

While the parents visited some neighbors one of their five children—and none is saying who it was—lit a piece of punk and stepped into the master bedroom where a big box of fireworks was sitting until being opened tonight.

In short order a spectacular display of fountains, pinwheels, rockets, roman candles and whistlers zoomed and whooshed in all directions.

Firemen, neighbors and Mr. and Mrs. Ayres rushed to the scene, where they found bedroom carpeting and furniture badly burned.

Ayres, in a somewhat sulphurous tone, then told Billy 12, Patty 10, Jimmy 8, Marilyn 3 and David 2, "You won't see any more fireworks displays until 1956."

Small Girl Found Unharmed In Dense Woods; Story Of Being Captured By Bear Discounted

LIBBY, Mont., July 4 (AP)—A two-year-old girl who wandered away from the family camp was found alive and well today about 300 yards from where she disappeared last night.

The girl, Ida Mae Curtis, was found in a hollow surrounded by cedar boughs. She was wearing only a little skirt, some shorts and her shoes, but seemed undisturbed after spending 22 hours in the open.

It was cold in the Kootenai National Forest last night and today, Ida Mae greeted her father Mortimer Curtis with a "Hi, Daddy." Curtis broke down and cried.

First reports quoted the girl's mother as saying a bear had carried her into the woods. The story spread quickly and scores of volunteers from as far away as Spokane were ready to go.

But Sheriff Ray Frost of Lincoln County discounted any suggestions that the girl had been taken by a bear. He said she didn't have a scratch on her.

John Horn, a lumber worker and one of more than 100 searchers who combed the area in a driving rainstorm, told The Associated Press: "It was the consensus of everybody in the search that no bear was involved. It seems certain that the child just wandered away and then everybody got excited because bears had been seen around there."

The region is one of the most rugged in the northwest country. It is only about 60 miles south of the Canadian border.

A deputy sheriff said two grizzly bears were reported hunting for food at the camp of the missing girl's parents shortly before the girl vanished.

Traffic Heavy Into Poconos Over Holiday

TRAFFIC OVER the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission crossings at Milford, Delaware Water Gap and Portland was very heavy Friday through Sunday—northbound.

Southbound traffic was better than normal, but nowhere near as heavy as the movement into the Pocono Mountains area.

Yesterday's travel over all three bridges — especially southbound — was an average week-day normal, indicating the travelers came to stay at least a week and perhaps more, bridge officials observed.

Navy Search For Fliers Discontinued

TOKYO, Tuesday, July 5 (AP)—An intensive search in the western Pacific for two Marine airmen was abandoned last night eight days after their twin-jet Skyraider vanished in a fog.

The Navy vessels discontinued their search for Capt. H. P. Montague, 26, Jackson, Miss.; and Lt. David W. Bell, 24, Wayzata, Minn., son of Charles H. Bell, president of General Mills, Inc.

The Air Force said Monday planes would continue checking mountain peaks, islands and coastlines for any sign of wreckage. Faint radio signals identified by the Navy and Air Force as coming from a liferaft's emergency set last week resulted in the greatest air search rescue attempt in the western Pacific in years. Dozens of planes and ships ranged over more than 85,000 square miles of ocean which at times was obscured by low fog.

Two other Marine airmen were casualties of the search. Lt. Alan M. McAneny, Yonkers, N.Y., died last Tuesday in the crash of his jet fighter on a small volcanic island, Oshima, 65 miles south of Tokyo. Lt. James R. Day, 24, Minneapolis, presumably perished Wednesday when a helicopter was forced to ditch.

Mystery Of Vanishing Garden Hose Unsolved; Two Citizens Resort To Axe, Third To Shovel

DOWNEY, Calif., July 4 (AP)—The earth in this Los Angeles suburb seems to have developed an extraordinary — and baffling — appetite for garden hoses. It has now swallowed portions of three.

Today, however, puzzled homeowners put a stop to the mysterious goings on. Two severed their errant hoses. The third dug his out.

Burrowed Downward
It all started last Thursday when George DiPeso's daughter was watering the garden with a green plastic hose. When she stuck it into the dirt, she was unable to pull it out. Worse, it started burrowing downward.

The hose has been heading for China at the rate of two or three inches an hour ever since. Until this morning, that is. For today DiPeso got fed up with all the publicity his hose had been getting and chopped it off. More than 20 feet of it had disappeared.

Meanwhile, two other nearby residents reported similar vanishings.

Calvin Barham of nearby Norwalk said he stuck his hose a couple of inches into the ground to water the roots of a tree. When he returned an hour later, two feet had been sucked down and he couldn't pull it out. This morning, with five feet gone, Barham got curious and started digging.

He says he found the end was embedded in soft sand, which apparently created enough suction to hold the hose solid.

Barham claims this solves the mystery. Authorities, however, have said they are baffled by the disappearances. No one seems sure what force draws the hoses downward.

15 Feet Disappeared
The third case was that of Mrs. Robert Breeze of Downey. She stuck a hose in a hole to try to drown a gopher yesterday and when she returned found 15 feet of it had disappeared. She was unable to pull it out, even with the help of three neighbors. Mrs. Breeze put a quick end to the nonsense. Declaring she wasn't going to lose any more hose, she chopped it off and filled the hole.

DiPeso ended quite a saga when he followed Mrs. Breeze's example.

Decedents Remembered

Descendants of those who fought in the Revolution and of others whose lives have been enriched because they fought remembered the signers today.

Particularly in New England, where are buried the remains of men like John Hancock, John and Samuel Adams and Robert Paine, services were held in old graveyards.

Americans celebrated the Fourth of July in many ways.

President Eisenhower spent a quiet day at his Catactin Mountain retreat in Maryland, Camp David. His schedule called for a trip with Mrs. Eisenhower to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm before they return to Washington this morning.

Those of his countrymen who spent the weekend away from home also started back home.

Teen-Age Girl First Person To Swim Lake Erie

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., July 4 (AP)—Greta Patterson, a sparkling teen-ager, crawled onto the sands of Crystal Beach early tonight—exhausted but triumphant because she was the first person to swim across Lake Erie for Angola, N.Y.

Behind the plucky youngster was a gruelling 13-hour swim through 15 miles of choppy lake water.

Thousands of spectators cheered Greta, 18, as she came up onto the shore and fell into the arms of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Guy Patterson of Batavia, N.Y.

Sen. Knowland Doubtful Of Red Motives

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 4 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today Soviet Russia may try to use the Big Four conference to push the Communist drive for a neutral block of nations between the Iron Curtain and the West.

In a speech prepared for delivery here, the Senate Republican leader expressed confidence that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will resist any Soviet efforts to neutralize Germany or other nations friendly to the free West.

Broken Promises
Knowland said this country's purpose in meeting with Russian, British and French leaders at Geneva is "to find or define areas of tension and leave to later meetings of the foreign ministers, or ambassadors, or the United Nations, the recommendations for solutions if such can be found."

Knowland said Eisenhower and Dulles know that Soviet Russia has broken "50 out of 52 past agreements and treaties."

He suggested that the issue of freedom for Iron Curtain satellites may arise, saying:

"Until the people of Eastern Europe, who have lost their freedom through no fault of their own, have an opportunity of electing their own governments by free elections under the supervision of the United Nations or of the Big Four powers, there can be no real release of tensions in that area of the world."

Accuse Communists

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Tuesday, July 5 (AP)—The United Nations Command today charged the Communists with "complete insincerity, dishonesty, and utter lack of integrity" in maintaining the two-year-old Korean armistice.

Drownings Account For 192 Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TRAFFIC deaths mounted steadily last night in the closing hours of the Fourth of July holidays, and the National Safety Council said a new record appeared inevitable if the rate continued.

With the 78-hour holiday rapidly drawing toward a close at midnight local time, traffic deaths had reached 330. Drownings took 192 lives and 110 persons died in other miscellaneous accidents for a total of 632 persons killed violently.

In Pennsylvania, 18 lost their lives as the result of motor vehicle accidents, nine were drowned and four lost their lives in other accidents.

Record in 1952
The record for a similar three-day July 4 period—366 traffic deaths—was set in 1952. And although the end of the present holiday was fast approaching, many delayed reports of death do not arrive until the next day.

"It appears inevitable that the nation is headed for a new high for any three-day Fourth of July unless drivers returning home redouble their care," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

"This needless traffic toll is a tragic price tag on holiday fun. We appeal to every driver on the road to halt this toll right now by driving so alertly, so patiently, so skillfully that he prevents the one accident he can prevent—the one he may cause."

Last year's traffic toll, also for a three-day July Fourth weekend, was 348 dead, and an Associated Press survey of a nonholiday weekend showed 342 persons died in traffic accidents from 6 p.m. Friday, June 17, to midnight the following Monday.

793 Over-all Totals
The traffic death toll record for any Fourth of July weekend was 491, set in the four-day period of 1950. The over-all toll, from traffic, drownings and miscellaneous that year was 793.

The toll this July 4 holiday was boosted considerably when eight persons died in a two-car collision near Iowa City, Iowa. Two families were virtually wiped out in the mishap.

In the miscellaneous category, lightning killed a mother and three small children at a picnic near Columbus, Ohio, and two women were killed in the collapse of a cable-suspended footbridge over a small stream at Cherokee, N.C.

Fireworks Fatality
Only one person was killed by fireworks by late afternoon Monday—a 6-year-old boy who threw a firecracker into a five-gallon can of kerosene. Firecracker accidents injured an 18-month-old girl in Leslie, Mich.; a 14-year-old boy in Oakland, N.J.; and three persons in Oklahoma.

Many Couples Married More Than 25 Years

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today it has counted at least 5,800,000 American marriages that have lasted 25 years or more.

The statistics came out of a survey of married women, made when the last census was taken in 1950. The bureau also found:

The average length of marriage for all women who have been married only once was about 13½ years.

There were some 4,400,000 women who had been married two or more times and were living with their current husband. For these women, their current marriage had lasted an average of about 8½ years at the time the census was taken.

There were some 1,155,000 divorced women counted. Of these 226,000 had been married more than once. Another million women were separated from their husbands, and about 214,000 of these had been married more than once.

On the average, divorced women who had not married again reported they had been single about 4½ years, while women separated from their husbands reported separations averaging just over 4 years.

The study covered women 15 to 59 years old.

Syrian Group Cites Walter For Honors

PORTLAND, Ore., July 4 (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) has been named the "American Statesman of the Centennial" by the American-Syrian-Lebanese Federation which convened here Friday in the first formal observance of the 100th anniversary of the first immigrant to come here from the twin Middle-East nations, Syria and Lebanon.

Congressman Walter flew to Portland from Washington Sunday night to accept the citation in ceremonies which also honor movie star, Danny Thomas, Ambassador Charles Malik of Lebanon, and other prominent personalities. The Pennsylvania lawmaker, chairman of the House of Representatives Un-American Activities Committee, will make the principal address at the banquet where the award will be presented in a dramatic setting. He will be introduced by Danny Thomas.

Among guests who will hear the co-author of the McCarran-Walter Act will be the Jacob Marto family, featured in a current issue of Life magazine as the first Arab refugee family made eligible for admission to the United States following the enactment of the special quota for which Rep. Walter was responsible.

Praised By Federation
Federation President Michael Borane of Phoenix, Ariz., told the centennial convention delegates that Congressman Walter is a "great American whose first consideration is the preservation of the security of our beloved Republic," and that the award is based largely on the "splendid patriotism" he exemplifies. "The fact that Mr. Walter made possible the first Arab quota in the history of our immigration laws is only secondary," Borane said.

Mr. Walter, who is serving his 12th consecutive term, is also chairman of the House Subcommittee on Immigration and is a ranking member of the Judiciary Committee.

Borane pointed out, in his opening address to the convention body, that the federation's choice for the American Centennial Statesman has also received awards from the American Bar Association, Patriotic Sons of America and Sons of the American Revolution. He was also given a life membership in the American Legion, and the John Carroll award by Georgetown University Alumni, Borane announced.

'Sinister Parts Are My Lot,' Says Victor Kuring, Actor

NOTHING IN VICTOR Kuring's background portends his being cast as a murdered or gangster, but these sinister parts will, nevertheless, fall to him this summer at the Bushkill Playhouse in Bushkill.

Victor, who has been in theater three years, admits with a twinkle in his eye that when he isn't called upon to be a leading man, he just seems to fit naturally into the villain roles. This paradox, according to Director Mayville, is substantial evidence of the versatility of young Kuring.

Kuring's first major role at the Bushkill Playhouse (this season is as Jonathan Brewster in that crazy comedy "Arsenic and Old Lace" which opened last night. Jonathan, a member of the mad Brewster family and nephew of Abby and Martha Brewster, has between 12 and 13 murders to his credit.

Plastic Surgery

These had been carefully plotted and effected all over the world. Though widely spread, Jonathan's murders begin to catch up with him . . . until, by the use of plastic surgery he is made to look like Boris Karloff. Kuring's handsome face will take on this disguise for the "Arsenic" production only, the audience is promised.

Another sinister part which Victor will play this summer is Mr. Manningham in the drama "Angel Street." Mr. Manningham has successfully committed one murder and as the play begins he is slowly trying to drive his wife insane. Kuring is cast as a gangster in the comedy "Three Men on a Horse" which opens on July 11 and as the "hard" producer in "Light Up The Sky" which is the following production.

"I don't mind playing these villainous and murderers on the stage," says Kuring, "but basically I'm really a nice guy."

Two School District Combinations Take Effect This Week

Stroud Union Meets Tonight To Organize

TWO MAJOR school district combinations come into existence this week in Monroe County.

Tonight at 8 the Stroud Union School District goes into effect at a meeting in Stroudsburg High School.

Wednesday night the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School District will be legally formed.

The two steps represent two different approaches to the growing need for consolidation of school districts into centralized administrative units. Each also is the result of years of study and discussion by the areas involved.

Three-District Union

A union school district, such as that going into effect tonight for Stroudsburg, Stroud Township and Delaware Water Gap, is a combination of districts for school purposes which is approved by the voters of all the districts involved.

The Stroud Union District was taken before the electorates in the three areas last November. It was approved by a three-to-one margin.

In a union district the areas which go into the new administrative unit cease to exist as separate, individual districts where educational matters are concerned. One administrative organization is responsible for the schools in the area.

In the case of the Stroud Union District there are now five elementary school buildings and one high school building — Clearview and Anasolink in Stroud; Ramsey and Morey in Stroudsburg and the Delaware Water Gap School for elementary pupils and the Stroudsburg High School building for secondary education.

Expansion Plotted

During the past six months — while the school directors of all three districts met as a "defacto" union board — plans have been drawn up for expansion of the present high school to make room for more students and added services.

Among the new services discussed by the defacto board have been kindergarten classes for all three areas and a uniform hot lunch program. Counseling services will, in time, be made available to pupils in all three areas.

When the three boards meet tonight to combine into one overall school board, election of officers and establishment of a regular monthly meeting date will be primary items of business.

During the interval between the approval of the union district by voters and its legal formation Herbert Crane, Stroudsburg, has acted as de facto board president.

Under terms of the Pennsylvania Public School Code, the union district would have gone into effect legally, on the "first Monday in July." Since this specified time fell on a legal holiday (yesterday) the union board becomes legal today.

Six-District Jointure

The East Stroudsburg Area Joint School District consists of East Stroudsburg borough, Price, Smithfield, Middle Smithfield townships in Monroe and Porter and Lehman townships in Pike County.

Unlike a union school district, the formation of a jointure requires no action by voters. Jointure is a mutual agreement for combination of school facilities and administration which is worked out, ratified and placed into action by the school directors themselves.

Tomorrow night, in a meeting at East Stroudsburg Junior High School, the six-district East Stroudsburg Area Jointure will be given final approval.

Officers will be elected at this meeting, also. The members of the new jointure have made no definite plans for expansion of school plants in the area. Added services have been outlined and board members have expressed a hope that many new educational services may be created in time for the beginning of the new school year.

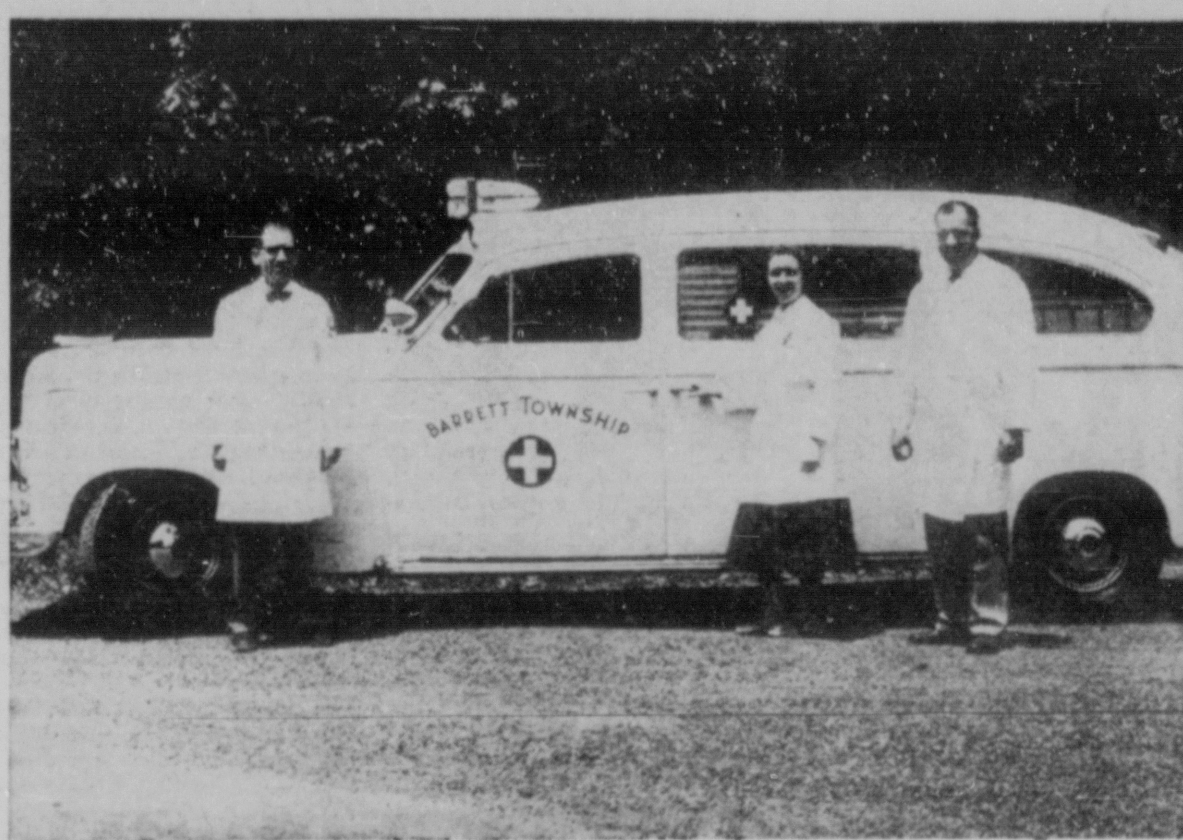

Encourage Centralization

Both the Stroud Union and the East Stroudsburg Area Jointure are results of a consistent effort on the part of the State Department of Public Instruction to encourage educational centralization.

During the past 10 years the Department, through legislation enacted by the Assembly, has made it increasingly attractive and beneficial to smaller school districts to combine into larger units.

Among the benefits: flat payments for jointure or union formation, increased transportation allocations, payment for closing one-room schools and added allotments for special services.

Ambulance Corps Answered 45 Calls First Eight Months

DURING THE FIRST eight months of service to its area the Barrett Township Volunteer Ambulance Corps has transported 45 patients.

In a report on the corps this week, C. M. Reese, president, listed 32 patients taken to Monroe County General Hospital in East Stroudsburg from the Barrett area. Other transportation involved taking patients to the following hospitals:

Three to Scranton hospitals; one to a hospital in Wilkes-Barre; one to a Philadelphia hospital; three to area rest homes; one to another home in the township and four recuperative patients returned to their homes from hospitals.

The ambulance service is supported at present by 336 subscribing families paying dues of $5 each. After the first year of membership the renewal subscription will be only $2 per year for each family.

Drive Continues

A drive for subscribers is still being continued, however. William Kintzel, Cresco, has been designated as the person to accept subscription to the service.

The ambulance corps is a non-profit organization staffed entirely by unpaid volunteer crews, Reese said. All funds are used toward payment for the ambulance, necessary equipment and maintenance.

In calling for ambulance service Barrett Township residents simply phone Cresco 3311 and give the exact location at which the ambulance is needed. The operator at the call station has on file a list of duty crews and immediately calls the chief of the crew on duty. Time checks show that it takes about eight minutes to assemble a crew and get the ambulance on its way, Reese said.

Each ambulance crew consists of three members—a driver, a helper and a nurse or other woman crew member. All of the members have completed training and hold first aid cards issued by the American Red Cross.

Seven Persons Injured When Cars Collide

SEVEN PERSONS were injured — three seriously — in a head-on two-car crash two miles north of Stroudsburg Saturday.

The driver of one of the cars, George E. Potts, 61, of 3220 N. Lee St., Philadelphia, will be charged with driving on the wrong side of the road, Stroudsburg State police said last night.

Potts was one of those seriously injured. He was reported in "fair" condition at Monroe County General Hospital last night, suffering from chest injuries and knee cuts.

Others injured and in the hospital were: Mrs. Bertha Young, 30, of Stroudsburg RD 2, in "fair" condition suffering from possible rib fractures, and leg and body bruises and Mrs. Margaret Potts, 58, Philadelphia, a right arm cut, knee cuts and chest injuries, also in "fair" condition.

Second Driver Hurt

Walter G. Young, 32, of Stroudsburg RD 2, driver of the other car, suffered elbow bruises, knee bruises and cuts. He was treated by the hospital but was not admitted. Also treated for injuries were the Youngs' two children, Barbara, aged 2, for forehead cuts and mouth cuts and Amy, aged 5, for bruise burns on the right side of her face.

Karen Schleich, aged 5, of 52 Marlboro Road, Philadelphia, a passenger in the Potts car, was treated for a severe forehead cut and discharged by the hospital.

State police said the accident occurred near the intersection of Leg. Route 45019 and township road 506 in Stroud Township at 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

Damage to the Potts car was estimated at $500. Estimated damage to the Young car was about $500, also, police said.

Police said an information charging Potts with driving on the wrong side of the highway will be filed before Justice of the Peace Mrs. Ruth Miller, East Stroudsburg RD 3. State trooper Ed Beneski investigated the accident.

Kresgeville Native Killed In Car Crash

GENE BARTHOLOMEW, 24, of Weissport, a native of Kresgeville, was killed Friday night in an auto crash on Route 209 near Lehigh.

His brother, Elwood, of Kunkletown RD 1, was treated for a left eye injury suffered in the same crash. Lehigh police said Elwood Bartholomew first told them, on Friday night following the wreck, that he was driving his car and was following his brother, who was driving the first car.

Saturday, however, police said the brother reversed his story, saying that he was in the first car and Gene Bartholomew was in the second.

According to this account, police said, Elwood Bartholomew told his brother attempted to pass him on a curve, then a tire blew out on the first car and Gene's car went off the road, rebounded, hit the first car, then crashed into a service pole and turned end over end.

Gene was pronounced dead on arrival at Gauden Heuten Hospital in Lehigh. He was born in Kresgeville, son of Russell and Sarah Griffith Bartholomew.

Surviving, in addition to his brother Elwood, are his wife and three sons, Weissport; two other brothers, Ellis and Wilmer, both of Kresgeville; and two sisters.

Stroudsburg State police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Roy Heller, 66, of Stroudsburg RD 2 pulled out of the Neola Road onto Route 209 then swung into the path of a car driven by Leslie E. Smith, 50, of 170 Crestview Road, Phoenixville.

Smith's wife, Ethel, 49, was taken to Monroe County General Hospital in the hospital ambulance where she was treated for body bruises and possible ankle fractures. She was reported in "good" condition by the hospital last night.

Police estimated damage to the Heller car at about $200 and at about $150 to the Smith vehicle. The accident was investigated by Pfc. Edmund Peters and Cpl. Edward J. Switaj. Peters and Switaj were sent to Stroudsburg substitution yesterday to assist in handling holiday traffic and accident details. Both men were stationed in Monroe County at one time.

Workers Show Appreciation For Benefits

ENDICOTT, N. Y., July 4 (AP) — If you work for the Endicott Johnson Corp., it will cost you nothing to have a baby—or several of them.

And that, like the birth of a child, is only the beginning. The shoe company will finance your home building, with little down and a long time to pay. It will provide you and yours with special recreational facilities, including an 18-hole golf course. It will care for you when you are sick and help provide for your old age.

Behind this benevolent paternalism is Charles F. Johnson Jr., president and general manager of Endicott Johnson, the second largest shoe manufacturing company in the United States.

Like Mother Hen

He's like a mother hen. And the "chicks," to show their appreciation, are giving a series of dinners and conducting other festivities in honor of the 50th anniversary of his entrance into the active affairs of the company.

The affairs have been in progress since late in May. The climax will come Oct. 21, the eve of Johnson's 68th birthday, when employees and community organizations plan a big parade.

The company employs about 20,000 and has plants in Endicott and neighboring Johnson City, Binghamton and Oswego, and in Pennsylvania.

Last year, EJ made 27,520,416 pairs of leather shoes and 4,193,916 pairs of rubber footwear. In size it is second only to the International Shoe Corp.

Atomic Peace Ship Would Demonstrate To Peoples Of World We Are Sincere

Senate rejection of President Eisenhower's atomic ship project is partisan politicking at its worst. The vote was on party lines — Republicans for, Democrats against.

Whatever doubts exist about most world problems today, it safely can be said that the subject of atomic energy carries with it both the major fears and hopes of mankind everywhere in the world. The fears stem from the awful destructive power of nuclear weapons; the hopes from what atomic power can do in improving the world if given a chance.

Ever since the United States exploded the first atomic bomb 10 years ago, the United States has been associated primarily with the fear of atomic bombs. The Soviet Union now is linked with these fears, but does a lot of talking and little doing about peaceful uses of atomic energy.

In December, 1953, President Eisenhower opened up possibilities of American leadership to fulfill man's hopes for atomic energy — his atom-for-peace program.

Nothing this country has done in the postwar world has so captured world imagination. The Soviets still talk about atomic power but still refuse to join the Eisenhower plan.

The atomic-propelled ship is part of the President's project. He would build an ordinary merchant vessel, powered with atomic energy and filled with exhibits of the peaceful uses to which such energy could be harnessed.

The ship would sail round and round the world, and be open in the ports of all free countries for millions of average men, women and children to inspect. If it would explain what the United States is trying to do — and how much more it could do to help all men if the Soviets ever made atomic disarmament possible.

But little men in the Senate say "no." They should read what the President said about this project at his news conference last week. A pertinent quota was:

"We are trying to wage a war for peace — if we are going to win it, we have got to inform the world . . . and let them see the things that can happen with this great science."

The Soviets talk a lot about their atomic energy plant. Let's send one of ours to big and little ports around the world and let people see it.

Penalties For Theft Of Votes Puts Low Price On The Sanctity Of Ballot Boxes

In the final analysis, our liberties are in the ballot box. Free and fair elections are the method by which the people control their government and its officials. It is through the ballot box that reforms are gained.

Whenever and wherever the ballot box has become corrupted, freedom has failed. It has happened in some communities here in the U.S. and it has happened in whole nations abroad.

It adds up that the man who steals a vote commits a grievous crime against his own people and merits the stiffest punishment the law allows, both as a penalty for his crime and as an example to others.

The kind of penalties Federal Judge Rabe F. Marsh handed out to a gang of 14 admitted vote thieves in Federal Court the other day were of the powder-puff variety — a total of $775 in fines and probation for others. Uncle Sam even paid the court costs.

This puts a cheap price on the sanctity of the ballot box.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

A Solution Must Be Found To Provide Real Security With Rights Protected

On many questions, the real difficulty that faces our government is that we "just growed."

Up to World War II, our people were not conscious of security. They assumed that the Germans and Japanese had spies in this country and that there were a few trouble-makers around. But generally it was held that an American was always a loyal citizen, no matter how peculiar his ideas might be.

Then the Harold Ware group appeared on the scene (1934) and the House Committee on Un-American Activities, under Representative Martin Dies, commenced its investigation of Communists, Fascists and other unusual people. It was not, however, until the Alger Hiss, Remington and Coplon trials and the trial of the First String Communists that Americans became conscious of a gnawing evil. Federal, State, governmental and private agencies appeared on the scene to wipe out this conspiracy.

In addition, several screwball organs appeared which confused anti-Semitism, anti-Catholicism, anti-Negroism, anti-Communism, anti-Communism. Also some crooks got into the picture who discovered how to earn a living out of their opposition to Communism. It was based on hate. Their profane advocacy of hate made genuine anti-Marxists ashamed and drove thousands of Americans into silence because they were unwilling, even in a good cause, to be identified with scoundrels.

In this group, it is wrong to include the recognized informants and the undercover agents who, at the risk of their lives and always of their comforts, and of their trifling compensation, served the FBI, the Immigration Service, and various Congressional committees, as soldiers out on the field of battle. Some informants, under the stress of opposition and often distressed by an ungrateful government which failed to protect them, went sour. At least one was bought off.

Senator Joe McCarthy's service was to dramatize the issue. Toward the end of his hearings, tired, sick, battered for weeks by the opposition, he became entangled in a quarrel with the White House and was struck down by the full force of Executive power.

This particular quarrel could have been avoided by both sides; it had the effect of making McCarthy and not Communism the issue. As between McCarthy and Eisenhower, most Americans chose Eisenhower.

Subsequent to those hearings, the Communists gained courage and again took the offensive. Many anti-Communists supported the issues that the Communists raised. For instance, a great many professors in universities felt that in the process of the attack on "intellectuals," a general attack on "intellectuals" was being launched. The Communists cleverly opposed conformity and many who are not Communists also opposed conformity. This was one of those "big lie" slogans that Marxists project so skillfully. It has been successful.

The Fund for the Republic, which received $15,000,000 from the Ford Foundation, took up this fight and became a sort of actions committee on the side of what they call civil rights. It has worked out to be a defense organization.

The Fund for the Republic is a private body using tax-free money to do exactly on one side what it regards as improper for citizens to do on the other side. It employs investigators and snoopers to discover what active anti-Communists have been doing in the fight.

What is needed is a governmental policy on the subject. What are the precise functions and rights of the FBI? How shall its security be protected? What are the specific functions of the various security activities of the Federal Government and what are the rights of those who may be suspected of some activity by Harry Dexter White? How shall Congressional committees conduct their hearings? What is the function of the Passport Office, the Immigration Service, the Department of Justice in the security set-up? Suppose a man is unjustly or spitefully accused, by what process does he clear his name? Actually, today, no swift and complete means are available for such a purpose. A way was found in the motion picture industry which produced good results and was fair all around. It worked well for three years, 1951 to 1954, and then collapsed.

The problem of security is real. The methods have been inadequate and sometimes unjust. A solution must be found because we cannot be without security in the present confused world; yet we must not be unjust to any American citizen.

My America —by Harry Boyd Many Americans Would Not Say All Men Created Equal

"We hold these truths to be self-evident . . ." said our rugged forebears in the Declaration of Independence they adopted at Philadelphia 179 years ago yesterday.

And then they went on to list some of the truths they held to be self-evident—"that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness . . ."

Sometimes I wonder whether it wasn't their very certainty about those truths that enabled them to carve out a living credo that has withstood almost two centuries of buffeting and erosion, as the keystone of the most powerful nation the world has ever known.

What are we that sure about today? What truths do we hold to be self-evident?

In these days of persistent hair-splitting you could get yourself an argument on the validity of nearly every one of those "truths" the framers of the Declaration took for granted.

Many good Americans no longer would say without qualification that all men are created equal. They dredge up evidence to the contrary and insist that the meaning of "equal" must be limited. They shy away from full acceptance of the idea of Divine endowment. They'll buy the idea of a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness but they add some fine print at the bottom to hedge the "unalienable" and define the "liberty" and "happiness."

And it may be that there's some justification for grayling out some of the blacks and whites that gave the American colonists the spirit to fight for their independence.

But precision in speech can be overdone. We can become so engrossed in hand-picking our words and whitening them down to exact size that we forget what we're trying to say.

I have an idea that's one of the reasons life seems so confusing these days. We've got so enamored of logical precision, the scientific method, tolerance of dissent, objective reasoning and other such intellectual shibboleths that we underestimate the role of motion in the pursuit of happiness.

We are not thinking machines, much as we may sometimes like to believe it. We are human beings, with likes and dislikes and with feelings that can be lifted or hurt.

We can never get to the end of an effort to demonstrate by impeccable logic the truth of anything. To anyone with his eye cocked for flaws there will always remain a few loose ends to tuck in.

To have any time for happiness we must from time to time stop picking at things and accept as true what we feel to be true enough for practical purposes until overwhelming evidence to the contrary turns up.

I suggest that Independence Day is a pretty good time for Americans to check their bearings by sitting down and deciding what truths they now hold to be self-evident.

"To prevent patrons taking fruit from the table, there will be no fruit. Do not clean your shoes with a towel—unless it has been stolen from another hotel. Notify us if you see a mouse in your room and we will send up the cat. Guests without baggage will leave their wives with the room clerk."

In his book, "Modern China's Policy," Author Werner Levi recalls a discussion in 1899, regarding the "Open Door Policy," conducted by John M. Hay, U. S. Robert S. Allen Reports

FBI Checks Iron Curtain U. S. Propaganda Outlets

Washington, July 5: The FBI is making a special investigation of Iron Curtain propaganda "outlets" in the U. S.

Relation of the probe to the impending "summit" parley is not indicated. The significant investigation is being conducted at the behest of the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Justice Department.

The FBI is particularly scrutinizing the ties and operations of four registrants deemed the "principal outlets in the U. S. for propaganda and other material from the Soviet Union and Soviet bloc nations."

That's the way they are characterized by Attorney General Herbert Brownell in an unpublished report to the Senate Judiciary Committee. He lists them as follows:

Four Continent Book Corporation, which is registered as the agent of Mezhdunarodnaya Kniga, Moscow; W.F.T.U. Publications, London; People's China, Hong-Kong; and Kultura Whangarian Trading Co., Budapest.

Edwin S. Smith, who is the agent for Sovfoto; Eastfoto; East Music Agency; Am-Rus Literary and Music Agency; and a number of outfits in Iron Curtain countries.

Imported Publications and Products. Artikino Pictures, Inc., which is registered as the agent of Central Wynajmu Filmow, Warsaw; Sovrofilm, Bucharest; Sovexportfilm, Moscow; Czechoslovak State Film, Prague; and Magyar Filmgyarto, Budapest.

Brownell also informed the Judiciary Committee that the FBI has already submitted one report, which is being studied by him and officials of the Foreign Agents Registration Section.

"The law," Brownell explained to the Committee, "requires each agent of a foreign principal to maintain and keep essential books and records, and officers of the Registration Section as well as agents of the FBI are authorized to conduct inspections of these books and records . . . The FBI is doing that at the request of the Registration Section . . ."

Note: The State Department views as strictly phony the Reds' latest drive to induce refugees to return on the promise of good treatment. Lawrence Dawson, head of the Department's escapee program, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee, "While Soviet policy on other matters may shift with circumstances and changing regimes, the policy on escapees has remained firm and is pursued with unchanging consistency and intensification. The policy of the Soviet and its satellites toward escapees is (1) to preclude their escape; (2) to secure their repatriation by any means, including force; and (3) to make false promises of forgiveness and kind treatment based on phony amnesty decrees."

On the books—Foreign agents now registered with the Justice Department total 271, the largest number since enactment of the registration law . . . Registrations include: Spain — Felipe F. G. Armesto and Anatole Visson; Yugoslavia — Edward L. Greenfield Company; Egypt — Sessions & Caminita; Greece — Kelly, Nason, Inc.; Union of South Africa — Krook-Erwin Associates, Inc.; Japan — Charles von Loewenfeldt & Associates; Cuba — Hoite Agey Advertising, Inc.; Afghanistan — Schaler, Butler & Associates; Dominican Republic — International Services, Inc.; Ethiopia — Forrest E. Findley & Associates . . . Britain reported the largest expenditure for "information and tourist" purposes — $960,000 in 1954. France was second with $650,000.

Flashes — Stock market requirements are headed for another increase. That's the inside word in congressional circles — reportedly direct from Federal Reserve quarters . . . Marshal Tito is apparently going to do a lot of traveling. In addition to the Yugoslav dictator's announced trip to Russia, he is also going to Egypt. That's the word the U. S. embassy in Cairo has cabled the State Department . . . General Matthew Ridgway, retired Army Chief of Staff, is considering a number of offers from book publishers and magazines. He will definitely do some memoirs writing. Ridgway is telling friends, "There is considerable to relate, and when I do that, it will be for a purpose and not merely to let off steam."

Fischer "Exposes" Crockett

—by H. G. Heller

American children have been brainwashed into worshipping Davy Crockett who never was, "a myth as phony as the Russian legend about Kind Papa Stalin," says John Fischer, editor-in-chief of Harper's Magazine.

Writing in the July issue, Fischer criticizes a "Disneyfied version of history" which, he says, has turned 2,000,000 American boys from five to eight into "infant brainwashes."

Fischer says the historic truth is that Crockett was an "American frontiersman" who during the Creek War, "washed his way out of the army by hiring a substitute to fill out his term of service."

Fischer claims Crockett was "never king of anything, except maybe the Tennessee Tall Tales and Bourbon Samplers' Association."

He also says that as a youth Crockett was a "juvenile delinquent who ran away from home at the age of thirteen, to dodge a well-deserved licking by his father, a country saloon keeper."

Fischer continues: "For three years he bummed around Baltimore, scratching a living in various ways he never cared to talk about. At eighteen he went to school for six months, while making a pass at a girl who preferred a boy friend who could read, but he gave it up as soon as he found that even the ABCs wouldn't get him to first base. Later he married a less intellectual woman, whom he deserted after she had produced a small herd of children. He proved himself according to accepted historical authority—a poor farmer, indolent and shiftless."

Fischer adds: "Since work was distasteful to Davy, he became, in turn, a backwoods justice of the peace who boasted about his ignorance of law; an unsuccessful politician; a hack writer, heavily dependent on some unidentified ghost; and—hear this, Junior—a violinist. Whenever a steady job threatened, he took to the woods. He never was king of anything, except maybe the Tennessee Tall Tales and Bourbon Samplers' Association. When he claimed that he had shot 165 bears in nine months, his fellow tipplers refused to believe a word of it, on the sensible grounds that Davy couldn't count that high."

On Broadway

He applied ink to paper in the rented parlor of a Philadelphia bricklayer's home and composed words for the music of angels. Tom Jefferson, 33-years-old, completed the manuscript in 17 days. When the document was made public, Jefferson strolled among Philadelphia's joyous throngs unrecognized and unhappy. It was not generally known that Jefferson had authored it. The historic Declaration was publicly presented as the combined effort of Congress. His sadness stemmed from frustration. Congress had cut one-fourth of the original manuscript. Jefferson feared it had been mangled and much of its original power dissipated . . . Within a brief time, the magnificent words spread from mind to mind, and from heart to heart through the Colonies. A new nation drew life from the document: Its blood was liberty, its flesh was justice—and there were 13 stars in its eyes. Nevertheless, the tall man with red-hair, who carried himself like a banner, walked through Philadelphia's streets brooding about a document which would guarantee his immortality. Such was the dramatic irony of Jefferson's life—a strange and inspiring destiny.

His journey to history's pinnacle began on June 7th, 1776 when Richard Henry Lee rose to the floor of Congress and stunned legislators with a dramatic resolution: "That these United Colonies are and of the right ought to be free and independent states, that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved." Jefferson, the young literary genius, was instructed to compose the declaration. The finished product was democracy's birth certificate as well as a testament of faith in people everywhere. Jefferson—the man of peace who had the deepest faith in the nobility of human life—was compelled by history's exigencies to author a document which was not only civilization's classic charter of liberty—but also a declaration of war.

Fate, the great dramatist frequently endows great men with the opportunity for exhilarating accomplishments and condemns them to solemn experiences. Jefferson was the proud parent of noble concepts. He transferred ideals from the realm of pure thought to the world of law. However, the singing quality of his massive accomplishments played a melancholy duet with the harsh sounds of savage critics. Not many Presidents endured the defamation directed at Jefferson. And no Chief Executive ever had a more profound respect for freedom of expression. He was the firmest and most eloquent friend of the free press. And his 18th Century logic is applicable to the 20th: "The people are the only censors of their governors; and even their errors will tend to keep these to the true principles of their institutions. To punish these errors too savanely would be to suppress the only safeguard of the public liberty. The way to prevent these irregular interpositions of the people, is to give them full information of their affairs through the channel of the public papers, and to contrive that these papers should penetrate the whole mass of the people."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Well, this year we didn't have time to sit around repining the good old Fourth of July with nostalgia for the smell of punk and cordite, for the noise of devils-on-the-walk and giant firecrackers, for the beauty of sparklers and fountains and pin wheels and the delicious terror of Roman candles.

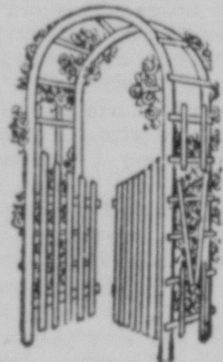

There was enough excitement around our house without fireworks. There was fireworks of a different kind when our son, whom we thought had outgrown bringing home stray dogs, snakes and turtles, came home with a baby goat.

Seems that working at the Wild Animal Farm this summer he'd become so entranced with their baby goats that he thought it was just what we needed to brighten our dull lives. We had other ideas about how we'd prefer to spend our declining years. However, have you ever tried to stay aloof and disdainful of a baby goat?

He took it to work on Sunday, riding quietly beside him in the car. But on the Fourth he left it to our mercies, or vice versa. She sat on our laps on the lawn, followed us on walks through the orchard and pattered right inside to sit and watch the ball game, chewing her cud in utter contentment.

There's something so light-footed, so gay-hearted and so mischievous-minded about a goat that you find yourself chuckling in spite of yourself. So there you are—deer in the orchard, squirrels in the trees, birds on every bush, a dog and a cat in the pantry, mice in the attic, ants in the sugar, a goat on the front porch, and bats in our belfry—that's us.

The fiscal year of the United States Patent Office in Washington, D. C., ended last Thursday, and while there has been no official announcement as to the exact number of patents applied for, it is expected that the preceding 12-month period represented a 24-year high in our national ingenuity. At least 78,000 patents were applied for, one spokesman believes. This figure tops the war-time figure of 77,000 for 1946, but is less than the 91,000 figure of 1931, which represents an all-time high.

There were, during the past year, requests for patents on all sorts of gimmicks and gadgets, from anti-snoring devices to masks for blowers of bubble gum. But most of the new inventions were of an electrical nature. Summing it up, United Press laments that there was not, however, one single invention of a "better mousetrap."

This may be true . . . but whether or not it's patented, the last few days have brought to our stationery department a most effective mousetrap that's far cuter than the usual variety. And it sells for just 1.00.

The mousetrap to which I refer is actually a large desk clip for important papers . . . but what a spring it has! The base is of plastic, and there's an honest to goodness mousetrap spring of golden brass upon which perches a saucy little brass mouse. These are really different, and despite our distaste for mice and traps, amusing as the dickens. As a matter of fact, they're so cute that when a dozen were unpacked in our receiving room, several were immediately snatched up by store employees. Anyway, it may very well be that what the world needs is not a better mousetrap but a better cheese . . . and this bit of philosophy comes right from the old "micetro."

Doug Gordon leaves a note and a sample in my office with the suggestion that you be told about Tom Sawyer's new "Hipriders" slacks to be found in our boys' department. The word "hiprider" indicates Tom Sawyer's original styling of a low rise, tapered slacks that ride low on the hips, has a smaller seat, and narrower legs. Doug predicts that this new, more comfortable fashion, will be a best seller with us. The price is 3.98; the size range, 6 to 12, and the colors grey and khaki, in stout-hearted gabardine. Remember the word "Hipriders" for young "Roughriders."

Must hurry down to hosiery and grab a box of those 3 for 2.50 Granites, this Saturday being the last day of our June-into-July Jubilee. After all the urging from Sylvia Strunk, she deserves a sale — and I do need those stockings. Granites are the only hosiery I can buy with the complete assurance that they'll wear like iron.

Since this won't appear until Tuesday morning, I'm probably too late to wish you a happy holiday on behalf of Wyckoff executives and employees. But I can say we hope it was a happy holiday. And I can still congratulate the Steve Solotruks on the birth of a daughter, this past Saturday . . . By the way, you will come in today won't you? Three New Tricycle Farm Tractors At Price Agency

FORD MOTOR COMPANY is now producing three new tricycle farm tractors in two power series, as well as front-mounted implements for the new tractors, according to Raymond Price of Raymond Price Inc.

"We extended a cordial invitation to all farmers and others interested in farm machinery to visit our showroom at Cresco where we will have the equipment on display.

Power Spread

Power-spread rear wheels are a major feature of the new tractors—first tricycles ever built by Ford. Instead of wrestling 300-pound rear wheels by hand to obtain the proper spacing for various field needs, the operator uses the tractor's own power to turn the wheel discs to obtain the desired spacing, in one-inch increments from 56 to 76 inches (from 64 to 84 inches with the discs reversed).

Front-mounted equipment designed for use with the new Ford tractors includes two and four-row cultivators with planter, fertilizer and side-dresser attachments. Other Ford implements, including a two-row mounted corn picker, will be available soon, according to Raymond Price.

Fine Old Antiques For Pattern

"SO BEAUTIFULLY made... so handsomely finished"... such are the remarks we at A. C. Miller hear as another customer purchases a room grouping of Cushman Originals. Of course this beauty of finish, this craftsmanship is not something accomplished over a few years, for the Cushman people have been making fine furniture since 1886.

The design of each fine Cushman Colonial Creation has been accomplished through the careful study of fine old antiques, however, to add to the comfort of chairs, and other pieces, slight alterations have been made to meet modern living conditions. Construction of these pieces centers around fine, cabinet lumber specially selected and handled. Just as glass is annealed (tempered) so the lumber used in Cushman Creations is tempered in sheds specifically constructed for the purpose and under special Temperature Controlled atmospheric conditions.

Use Master Pattern

The Cabinet Maker, in turn takes these fine woods and with the use of master patterns carefully creates a piece of furniture that will match a piece purchased 20 years ago or one that may be purchased in a few years. This means that one can buy a Cushman Creation at any time and find the same fine craftsmanship and design in each piece.

The Finishing is indeed a fine art in itself; this satiny finish and depth of color tone is done through careful color matching and many coats of lacquer. Between each coat, the lacquer is sanded down with very fine sandpaper. Both machine and hand rubbing is required to give the Cushman finish the depth and feeling for which it is now famous. Final finishing is a hand rubbed coat of wax.

This rare combination of the Furniture or cabinet makers art results in the famous Cushman Colonial Creations which we here at A.C. Miller's are proud to handle and display. Each piece is positively guaranteed and may be identified as a Cushman Original by the name "Cushman" brand on the bottom or back of every piece.

System is available for the new tricycles. Rear wheel weights are added in 30-pound segments for a total of 800 extra pounds on the rear wheels. Up to 450 pounds can be added with an easy access front weight box using 48-pound segments. These weights are in addition to that gained by loading the tires with calcium chloride and water. Through this system of "Tailored Traction," extra weight may be added when needed and eliminated on jobs where harmful packing of soil would result.

All three tricycles, (two "700" series and the "900") like the five models offered in the four-wheel "600" and "800" series, have Ford's rugged fieldproven "Red Tiger" engine, of low-friction "square" design—short stroke and large bore. The 900 series is 30 per cent more powerful than the 700 series.

WHAT HAS happened to Little League baseball? Where is the care free game that was founded to entertain youngsters and to teach them the fundamentals of baseball? Where is the good fellowship and the laughter which used to accompany a Little League baseball game? Why has disinterest, bitter feuds and the lack of trust moved into Little League circles, not in Monroe County alone, but throughout the United States? These are only a few of the questions that have been bothering thousands of interested people, including this reporter.

Several years ago college professors and doctors of all descriptions began writing books, and magazine articles on the harm that Little League baseball was capable of creating. Everyone, well almost everyone laughed and said that it couldn't happen here. Well, folks, you can stop laughing now—it has happened here, and elsewhere, too. The fun is out of the game and the accent is on winning at all costs.

Fathers are arguing with umpires, mothers are raising heck with managers for not allowing their sons to play enough innings. Scorekeepers are being second guessed and it appears as if managers have forgotten the true purpose of Little League baseball and are now driving their youngsters to win at all cost. Locally, I've heard of, witnessed and been a part of several instances that certainly aren't a credit to the game as founded by Carl Stotz.

I've heard both sides of arguments growing out of Little League games. I don't think it necessary to bring such arguments to the surface again at this time, but at least one incident was serious enough to bring about a possible breach in relations between two area teams and could even disrupt an entry circuit. Regardless of who is on what side in any of these debates, it is obvious that they should never occur under present conditions.

For some unknown reason, some people are always looking for a quarrel. They are never quite satisfied with the way things are going or the manner in which the situation is being handled. Our local athletic setup, from Little League right to the college level, is plagued by second guessers and the individual who goes at great length to promote trouble between player and coach or player and manager. The reason undoubtedly remains in the mental makeup of such individuals.

Parents of some of our Little Leaguers fail to realize that managing a team or running a league isn't all play. Men serving in these capacities are formed to give up virtually all of their spare time during the summer months and forced to send a great deal of time away from their families and often from their work. Team pilots and circuit officials are forced to work long hours in order to make the Little League venture in this area a success.

On the other hand managers of the various Little League teams must some day accept the fact that their primary job isn't to win baseball games. The game was invented to present a clean type of recreation for boys between the ages of eight and 12 years and to give these same youngsters a solid background on baseball, which in turn will make them better athletes when they reach the high school and college age ranks.

Winning games at the present time is secondary in every phase of the game. Youngsters of this age shouldn't be driven to win at all costs, but rather should be instructed on the fine points of the sport and through this medium let victories and defeats fall where they may. Injuries sustained in Little League baseball, both physical and mental, could cling with the youngsters through their entire athletic career.

Little League baseball is an excellent spring-board for the hopeful athlete. Let's keep it exactly that way. Let parents and team and league officials and the spectator treat the youngsters just like any other child in their age group, rather than hurt vocal Monroe County has an excellent Little League setup. We can't afford to allow some person or group of people to ruin the entire organization. Harmony, good fellowship and thought for the future should govern our actions at Little League contests.

Roseto Earns Nod Over Portland, 6-2

ROSETO—Roseto carved out a 9-2 victory over Portland in a Bi-State League baseball game played here at Roseto Park on Sunday.

The home team scored in all but two turns at the plate to register its sixth victory of the present campaign.

Vern Shaplin spun a sharp eight-hitter at Portland, while his mates pounded Dick Egbert for 15 safeties, including a triple and single by Al "Red" Nerino.

Advantage

Roseto went in to the lead with one run in the second round and then went on to win with two counters in the third inning, two more in the fourth, one in the fifth and seventh and two more in the eighth.

Portland reached Shaplin for single counters in the fourth and ninth rounds.

Leonard Castellucci, with three hits, paced Roseto at the plate, while Harold "Hair" Staples, Ronnie Stopp and Jerry "Moose" Zeman, each with two safeties, were the key players for Portland.

Dodgers Run Over Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, July 4 (AP)—The National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers unloaded their vaunted power with the sound of a giant firecracker this Independence Day and buried the Philadelphia Phillies twice, 11-2 and 6-3, with an attack that produced six home runs, one triple and two doubles.

Pitcher Clem Labine earned credit for the second game victory and helped his own cause with a home run. Carl Furillo, who homered in the first game, hit another, his 14th, in the second contest. Duke Snider, hit a pair, his 26th and 27th, driving home six runs to up his league leading runs batted in total to 84. Gil Hodges had himself a three-run homer in the opener.

Indication

The double victory indicated that the Dodgers had snapped out of a recent slump and intended to prove that time-honored tradition that the team in first place on July 4 winds up in the world series in October. The Brooks received tight pitching from Labine and Don Newcombe who collected his 14th win against only a single defeat in the first game.

Orioles Drop Two Veterans

BALTIMORE, July 4 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles today gave a pair of veterans their unconditional release and signed up two more youthful baseball players.

General Manager Paul Richards released hurler Saul Rogovin and outfielder Wally Westlake, obtained from Cleveland only recently.

Youth

The Birds bought 21-year-old Robert H. Hale, hitting .373 with York, Pa., of the Piedmont League and signed up Ed Gunning, a Baltimore youth who hurled for Southern High School here, and sent him to the Cordele, Ga. farm club.

Winning games at the present time is secondary in every phase of the game. Youngsters of this age shouldn't be driven to win at all costs, but rather should be instructed on the fine points of the sport and through this medium let victories and defeats fall where they may. Ties World Record

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 4 (AP)—Louis B. Mayer's Alton subdued five rivals and tied the world record today in winning the $33,750 American Handicap at Hollywood Park.

Saylorsburg Stretches Win Streak To Ten Straight With Verdict Over Bushkill, 8-0

SAYLORSBURG—Saylorsburg streaked to its 10th straight baseball decision in the Pocono Mountains League yesterday by administering an 8-0 licking to Bushkill, here on the winning club's home grounds.

Bob Bonser worked the distance on the hill for Saylorsburg to pick up his second victory in two days and his seventh favorable nod of the current campaign without a defeat.

Two Games In Babe Ruth Loop

TWO GAMES are listed for the Saylorsburg-Barrett Babe Ruth League today and the circuit's All-Star team will clash at Gordon Giffels Field tomorrow. All action is set for 6:15 p.m.

Today's contest will pit Worthington Mower against Barrett, at Canadensis, while International Boiler and Line Material clash at Giffels Field.

Inning and repeated, with No. 10, in the fourth. He also singled and crossed the plate in the sixth when Al Rosen pounded his 10th home run.

Detroit bunched all of its runs in the nightcap into one inning, the third. That flurry, with singles by Harvey Kuenn, Bill Tuttle, Al Kaline and John Phillips, plus a double by Ferris Fain, chased Cleveland starter Mike Garcia.

The Indians nibbled away at the Detroit margin, tying the score at 5-11 in the sixth on Rosen's two-run out and produced three more in the eighth.

Bobby Young tripled in the eighth after two singles to spark the rally.

In the first game, Tuttle and Ray Boone each hit two-run homers for Detroit.

Cleveland's Ralph Kiner sent that game into extra innings when he singled home a run to tie the score at 5-5. Kiner also hit a one-run homer in the eighth, his 11th of the year, and started the final rally with a double. Larry Doby drew an intentional pass after that and set the stage for Naragon's winning single.

St. Louis was ahead 4-1 in the bottom of the ninth when Jack Dittmer singled for Milwaukee, Del Rice walked and Del Crandall batted for Ernie Johnson and slammed a home run to tie it up.

In the top of the 10th Wally Mow tripled for the Cards and Bill Vidron singled to send him home. Pitcher Mel Wright held the Braves in the lower half of the 10th.

Peechatka Registers Win Number Five

TANNERSVILLE—Tannersville continued to climb in the standings of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League yesterday by pouncing on a 16-1 decision over Barrett, here on the Pocono High School field.

The rising Tannersville contingent picked up three runs in the first inning and then rolled to one of its most commanding victories of the current campaign behind the seven-hit pitching of Bill Peechatka.

Tannersville won its eighth game in 12 tries by adding four counters in the third, four more in the fourth, three in the sixth and two in the eighth.

Lone Run

Peechatka was deprived of a shutout as he notched his fifth victory when Barrett picked up its lone run in the fourth.

Tannersville's three runs in the first round came without the benefit of a base hit.

The host team lashed out 11 safely, and committed two errors, while Barrett was guilty of four blunders in the field.

Bill Suiter's three hits were tops for Tannersville, while Henry "Hank" Olsson and Bill Zubrod led the Barrett attack with two hits each.

Saylorsburg Rolls Over Analomink

REEDERS—Saylorsburg went on one of the biggest scoring sprees of the current Pocono Mountains Baseball League campaign on Sunday when the league leading Lakers hung a 24-1 lacing on Analomink, here on the losing club's home grounds.

The win was the 10th straight for Saylorsburg, a club that has tasted defeat on only one occasion against circuit opposition.

Saylorsburg opened the scoring with two runs in the third round, added four in the fourth, three in the fifth, six in the sixth and then polished off the day with a terrific nine-run spurge in the visiting half of the ninth round.

Averts Shutout
Analomink averted a shutout by nicking Bob Bonser for a single run in the third, as the veteran right hander racked up his sixth victory without a loss in the present campaign.

Bonser held the host club to three hits, all singles, and Analomink helped to dig its own grave by committing nine errors in the field.

Mays' Homer Gives Giants With Pirates

PITTSBURGH, July 4 (AP)—The New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader today, the Giants taking the second game 5-3 on a two-run homer by Willie Mays in the 11th inning. The Giants dropped the first game 4-3 when pitcher Paul Giel forced home the winning run by issuing a bases-loaded walk in the ninth frame.

Mays' game winning homer, his 23rd of the season, came with two out and Alvin Dark on second base. Willie had clubbed his second homer of the season in the first game.

Barrett Uses Big Inning To Earn Verdict Over Readers

CANADENSIS—Seven runs in the fourth inning enabled Barrett to score an 8-7 verdict over Readers in a Pocono Mountains League baseball game played here on the Barrett High School field on Sunday.

Readers had touched young Carl Motts for single runs in the first and second rounds, but Barrett exploded for seven counters in the fourth to take a commanding lead.

Motts pitched brilliantly through the middle innings and appeared well on the way to an easy victory when Readers scored once in the eighth and then tied the game and chased Motts with a four-run outburst in the top of the ninth and final round.

Winner
Lamar Price, who retired the final batter to end the inning, was credited with the victory when his mates pushed the deciding run across the plate with no outs in the bottom of the ninth round.

Barrett picked up the important victory despite the fact that it was outlit, 14-13, and committed five errors, while Readers played perfect ball afield.

Orioles Trip Senators, 6-2

BALTIMORE, July 4 (AP)—A four run eighth inning explosion, featuring Willy Miranda's bases-loaded double and pitcher Ray Moore's two-run single, gained Baltimore its first victory in the last 14 American League starts today as the Orioles defeated Washington, 6-2.

Moore, primarily a relief specialist, hurled his first complete game of the season and posted his third win against six losses on a neat six-inning.

The big righthander was working on a no-hitter until Jose Valdivia punched it with a sixth-inning leadoff single. Moore fanned seven Senators and walked only three.

Spoils Bid
Carlos Paula's 309-foot homer off the left field foul pole with Valdivia aboard, spoiled Moore's shutout bid in the eighth. The blow, Paula's second homer, equalized Baltimore runs in the first and third that were the product of Hank Majeski's two banger and a single by Dave Philley.

Majeski, Hal Smith and Chuck Diering each collected two safeties in an 11-hit Oriole attack against four Washington chukkers before an Independence Day gathering of 6,929. Chuck Stobbs was charged with the loss, his ninth in 10 decisions this year.

Six Pitchers
Leo Durocher used six pitchers in the second game while the Pi-

Jacobsen Supported By 20-Hit Attack

PORTLAND—A blazing 20-hit attack carried the league leading Strouds, to their 10th Bi-State League victory of the current campaign yesterday as the charges of Manager Frank Radler glided to a 13-3 verdict over Portland, here on the latter's home field.

Harold Jacobsen limited the Apollos to six hits as he won his fourth game without a defeat this season.

The supporting cast banged out 20 hits, including triples by Randy Morris and Dan Eppley, Morris and Eppley joined Ted Yuhus, Paul "Doc" Lim and Dick Gray as members of the winning team who accounted for three hits during the course of the contest.

Two runs by the Strouds in the second inning opened the flood gates on the scoring for the visiting team.

First Run
Eppley opened with a single to left and stole second, Bill Summers walked and both were sacrificed up a notch by Dick Gray. John Whitehead cracked a single to admit both runners.

Portland went into a brief 3-2 lead with a trio of runs in the third. Ronnie Stopp and Randall "Bish" Ott cracked successive doubles and Ronnie Newbaker drew a life on Gray's error. An outfield fly by Don Stopp and a single by Barr completed the scoring.

The Strouds went ahead to stay with a five-run outburst in the bottom of the same frame. Gray opened the inning with his first of three singles, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch.

Jacobsen singled Gray home and was forced at second by Yuhus. Lim singled, Nevil walked and Morris unloaded a tremendous triple to right center field to clear the sacks. The visiting right fielder tallied a moment later on a single by Eppley.

Radler's high flying Strouds came back with two more counters in the sixth on singles by Nevil and Morris and a booming triple by Eppley.

Four More
The Strouds put the game on ice with a four-run outburst in the seventh. Gray opened with a single and scored on a double by Whitehead. Jacobsen was safe on a fielder's choice and Yuhus followed with a one base knock, as did Lim. Nevil was safe on a fielder's choice and Morris drove home the final marker on a sacrifice fly to center field.

While the Strouds were banging Ronald Hallett's offerings to all fields, Jacobsen was spacing six hits over three innings—three in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the seventh—as the Monroe County entry in the Bi-State League improved its position atop the standings.

Jacobsen has a no-hitter in the making until Ronnie Stopp opened the fourth with a double.

The hard working right hander fanned 10 and walked six enroute to victory number four.

Bill "Bump" Metzger, recently acquired left hander, will probably pitch for the Strouds in an exhibition contest with highly regarded Dunmore at Gordon Giffels Field tomorrow.

Week-Long Chest X-Ray Program For County Starts Today

Free Service Provided For Food Handlers

A FREE, one-week chest x-ray program for all Monroe County food handlers begins today.

The program is sponsored as a public service by the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society.

In Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg chest x-rays are required by law for all persons handling food in any capacity, whether as cooks, waiters, dishwashers, retail market clerks or deliverymen or dozens of other jobs connected with the distribution of food.

The mobile x-ray unit, brought here by the society with the cooperation of the Monroe County Medical Society and the State Department of Health, Bureau of Tuberculosis Control, will visit every section of the county.

Skytop, Pocono Crest

Today's first stop will be made at Skytop Lodge from 10 to 11:30 a.m. This afternoon the unit will be at Pocono Crest, Pocono Pines, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The following is the schedule worked out for the remainder of the mobile unit's stay in Monroe County:

Wednesday, July 6—Stroudsburg Municipal Building from 8 to 11:30 a.m.; East Stroudsburg Municipal Building from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.; Tannersville Fire House from 7 to 9 p.m.

Thursday, July 7—Buck Hill Falls, at The Inn, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; the Mountainhome YMCA building from 2 to 4 p.m.; Middle Smithfield Township School at Echo Lake from 7 to 9 p.m.

Tamiment, Unity House

Friday, July 8—Camp Tamiment from 10 a.m. to noon; Unity House at Forest Park from 2 to 4 p.m.

Saturday, July 9—At Wyckoff's department store in Stroudsburg from 9 a.m. to noon and again from 1 to 5 p.m. for residents of the area.

Monday, July 11—Keiper's Laundry in Stroudsburg from 8 to 9 a.m.; Pocono Manor Inn, Pocono Manor, from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; Shawnee Inn, Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Tuesday, July 12—Brookheadsville Fire House from 10 to 11:30 a.m., and at Mount Pocono Fire House from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The chest x-rays taken during this week's program are for "screening" purposes. In cases where re-x-raying is necessary, a larger film size (14 by 17 inches) is used.

1,513 X-Rayed in 1954

Last year the Tuberculosis and Health Society x-rayed 1,513 food handlers in Monroe County. Out of the total number of persons x-rayed during May of last year four cases of active tuberculosis were found. Three of these persons were food handlers working in Monroe County at the time of x-ray.

In each of the four active TB cases, the society carried through a follow-up program to make sure that the persons were satisfactorily handled.
